FARM CHIEFS TO BE HERE

BIG MEETING IN AUGUST TO BRING MANY LEADERS.

FROM TWENTY STATES

Midwest Farm Bureau Federation to Conduct Its Third Annual Training School.

Maryville will be host to approximately 250 leaders and officers of eighteen to twenty states of the Midwest Farm Bureau Federation the week beginning August 13, when the Third Midwest Farm Bureau training school will be conducted here.

This announcement was made by E. L. Corbin, executive secretary of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, who yesterday conferred with Ernest Wray, president of the Nodaway County Farm Bureau.

The Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, the Nodaway County Farm Bureau, the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College and the Maryville Chamber of Commerce will co-operate in the entertainment of the visitors during that week.

Arrangements have been made with officials of the State Teachers College here to hold the training school in the College buildings. The visiting Farm Bureau leaders and officers will be quartered in the College Residence hall and in the cottages in the College park. Meals will be served in the Residence Hall cafeteria.

The meeting has been called as a Farm Bureau sales training school, where the problems of organization and membership work will be studied and discussed, Mr. Corbin stated.

Although twelve states are included in the Midwest district of the Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. Corbin said that leaders and officers from seven or eight other states will be in attendance, besides the national officers of the organization. A program embracing addresses by nationally known authorities on farm questions is now in the course of preparation but will not be announced until about the middle of July.

The first training school was held at Saugatuck, Mich., in 1926, when 135 were in attendance. Last year the meeting was held at Cedar Lake, Ind., and 185 persons attended. "We are expecting this steady growth to continue this year," Mr. Corbin said, "and hope that 250 or more will come to the school at Maryville."

2 Million to U. S. by Continental Oil Deal

Mellon Also Reports $1,398,910 in Delinquent Taxes—More Is Expected.

Washington, May 25.—The government has collected more than $2,000,000 in income taxes from those involved in the questioned Continental Trading Company oil deal, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon told the Senate today in a letter.

Mellon stated James E. O'Neill, former president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, had paid $151,305; Harry M. Blackmer, former president of the Midwest Refining Co., $151,597, and the Sinclair Oil Purchasing Company, $303,194. The latter figure represents taxes on profits Harry F. Sinclair and Colonel Robert W. Stewart made from the deal. They recently turned their profits from the 1921 transaction over to the Sinclair Company.

Mellon states $1,398,910 in delinquent taxes were collected from persons, whose names he declined to mention, and additional sums are expected to be collected later.

The letter, addressed to Chairman Hawley of the Joint Congressional Committee on internal revenue taxation, was in answer to a joint resolution adopted by both houses after Mellon declined to respond to a similar Senate resolution.

Seat Sale Good for Senior Class Play

Good seats are available yet, however, it was announced this afternoon. It is predicted by those who have witnessed rehearsals that "Twelfth Night" may surpass "Smilin' Through," which was presented by the senior class last year.

BLOCK SMITH BY 400 VOTES, IS FORECAST

Ed Villmoare, One of Senator Reed's Managers, Makes Claim After Return From South.

Kansas City, Mo., May 25.—Prediction was made today by Ed S. Villmoare, one of the managers of Senator James A. Reed's campaign, that Governor Alfred Smith's nomination at the Democratic convention in Houston will be blocked by a solid group of 400 to 500 votes.

Villmoare returned today from a tour of the south where he has been checking over the Democratic presidential situation. He did not say that Senator Reed will have the bulk of the anti-Smith vote at the outset, but pointed out that this opposition will have to go to somebody other than Smith.

STUDENT RIOT IS CONDEMNED

AUSTRIA MAKES ARRESTS OVER ITALIAN FLAG AFFAIR.

DYNAMITE CONSULATE

Anarchists in Buenos Aires Are Blamed for Destruction of Italian Headquarters.

Innsbruck, Austria, May 25.—A series of student disorders, including the tearing down of the Italian flag from the Italian consulate, today had resulted in numerous arrests and an official government communique condemning the rioting.

Twenty-two were known to have been arrested and many were injured as police swung through the streets, using their batons, attempting to prevent a recurrence of the riotous scenes.

The incident began in the morning when a group of students tore down the Italian consulate flag, which had been raised in anniversary of Italy's entrance into the World War. The students had gathered in the Cafe Munich, over which the consulate is situated, and started singing the nationalist anti-Italian songs. One student climbed through a window and seized the Italian colors.

Raised as Crowd Boos.

The consul protested to the government and demanded the flag be replaced. A platoon of soldiers appeared and raised the flag while the Italians gave the Fascist salute. The crowd booed and started another anti-Fascist demonstration.

Later last night a crowd sought to attack the Italian Inn, barracks and numerous Italian railwaymen. Police dispersed this gathering.

About 500 persons gathered then in the suburb of Saggen and attempted to march to Schiller Square where the Italian consul resides. Police frustrated this parade. Almost at the same time another group started a demonstration in Maria Theresa street and after vigorous police action, in which 14 were arrested, this crowd was dispersed.

The crowds in the main section became exceedingly boisterous and the police finally charged to clear the streets.

Several of the rioters were injured. Between 20 and 25 were arrested but all but eight were released.

The Italian flag finally was lowered at 8 p. m.

The provincial government late last night issued an official communique which condemned the acts of the crowds.

Dynamite Consulate.

Buenos Aires, May 25.—More than 200 persons have been arrested as authorities sought today to place the blame for the dynamiting of the Italian consulate and a drug store owned by a Fascist leader.

Authorities believed the dynamitings were conducted by anarchists. Many such radicals were among those arrested. All denied complicity.

Six persons were killed.

Italian flags in Buenos Aires were at half mast yesterday for the victims of the disaster. The consulate estimated the loss from the bombings would be about 30,000 pesos.

TAX PUBLICITY IS VOTED OUT

SENATE THEN ADOPTS REPORT ON $223,495,000 TAX CUT.

FARM BILL VETO UP

Senator McNary Asks That President Be Overridden—Too Late for Anything Else, He Says.

Washington, May 25.—The Senate this afternoon adopted the conference report on the tax reduction bill, calling for a $223,495,000 tax cut. This action followed the Senate's decision to kill an amendment which would have given publicity to tax returns.

House conferees had disagreed to the amendment.

The move to eliminate the publicity provision was made by Chairman Smoot of the finance committee.

The Norris amendment provides that all income tax returns should be made open to inspection by any applicant.

Couzens for Publicity.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan opposed the motion. He said the country has been misled to believe that the amendment provides for return to the system of tax publicity set up by the 1924 revenue act and later repealed.

That law, he explained, required collectors of internal revenue to prepare lists of income tax payers with the amount each contributed and make them available for publication, while the Norris amendment calls for no such listing.

"Treasury department records must be opened to inspection the same as any other government documents if the taxpayer is to be assured fair treatment," Couzens said.

Farm Bill Taken Up.

Washington, May 25.—The vetoed McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was taken up by the Senate this afternoon at the request of Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon.

"It seems to me too late in the session for any other helpful legislation to be drafted," McNary said. "I hope the Senate will override the President's veto."

The President had suggested in his veto message that farm legislation, satisfactory to him, should be passed. Meantime, there were reports that the President had a plan of his own ready to present if the opportunity offered.

AUXILIARY TO SELL POPPIES ON SATURDAY

Proceeds From Sale Will Go for Relief of Disabled Veterans and Their Families.

Tomorrow will be Poppy Day in Maryville.

"Buddy Poppies" will be sold by the Women's Auxiliary to the Seth Ray David Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mrs. J. B. Robinson, president of the auxiliary, has appointed a committee to be in charge of the sale of the poppies in Maryville. Miss Bertha Anderson was named chairman and Mrs. Ray O'Grady is another member.

The poppies were made by veterans of the World War who are confined in government hospitals and the money received from their sale is used in the relief of disabled veterans and their families. A percentage of the receipts is retained by the local V. F. W. post for local relief work.

ITALIA FIGHTS POLAR STORM

DIRIGIBLE IS CRIPPLED AND LONG OVERDUE AT BASE.

FORCED OFF COURSE

General Umberto Nobile's Craft Battered by Wind, Covered by Ice, Short of Fuel.

Kings Bay, May 25. — Battered throughout a night and day by a terrific storm, and now crippled, the polar dirigible Italia today turned northward from her homeward course in a fight for life.

Expected Soon.

Rome, May 25.—A Kings Bay dispatch late today said that the polar dirigible Italia was expected there shortly.

Landing Report Untrue.

Berlin, May 25.—A dispatch to the newspaper Tageblatt, reporting from Spitzbergen that the polar diribigle Italia had landed there was withdrawn from later editions of the newspaper as untrue.

Fuel Running Low.

Kings Bay, May 25.—Battered by winds, her fuel supply running low, the polar dirigible was reported at 2 p. m., today still to be fighting her way toward Spitzbergen and safety after her triumphal cruise over the North Pole.

One report was an unsigned message, believed to have been written by Gen. Umberto Nobile, that told of a desperate struggle against a storm.

An ice crust was forming on the Italia's hulk, the message said, and the crew had repaired several rips in her covering.

Before this there had come a message—at 11 a. m.—that said the Italia hoped to land at 4 p. m.

Gone Sixty Hours.

At that hour the Italia had been gone nearly sixty hours on what General Umberto Nobile, her commander, had planned as a forty-hour flight.

News of the Italia partially relieved great anxiety that had been felt here for her safety.

There had been no word of her for several hours—and she had been due here at midnight.

The Italia was believed to have 13 men aboard in addition to General Nobile.

In event the Italia was forced to make an emergency landing, the crew could survive for several months, as every such possibility had been anticipated and she carried a big food reserve.

Hirth Protests Veto of Farm Relief Bill

Missourian Says Action Shifts Battle to Kansas City.—Sees Hoover's Downfall.

Columbia, Mo., May 25.—Protests of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill were voiced today by William Hirth, chairman of the corn belt committee and organizing head of the Missouri Farmers Association.

It is Hirth's belief that vetoing of the measure will cause the battle for farm relief to be shifted to the forthcoming Kansas City convention. Hirth also expressed his opinion that if the convention at Kansas City nominated Herbert Hoover as its standard bearer the party will be crushingly defeated in the November election.

"Unless the Kansas City convention names a standard bearer who is an outstanding friend of agriculture," said Hirth, "whoever is nominated at Houston will be the next President of the United States.

"And if the eastern Republican leaders think the corn belt is bluffing, let them put it to the test."

Hirth said the President's veto message constituted an insolent challenge to the farmers of the entire nation, and predicted that the corn belt will accept the issue.

FILIBUSTER CALLED OFF

INDICATION OF VETO ENDS FIGHT ON SHOALS BILL.

BOTH HOUSES PASS IT

Vote Comes After All-Night Session in Senate, With Members Rousted Out of Beds.

Washington, May 25.—Congressional action on the Muscle Shoal's bill was completed today with House adoption of the conference report, and the measure now goes to President Coolidge. The House vote was 211 to 116.

The Senate approved the report earlier today after a session of more than twenty-four hours.

Belief that President Coolidge would veto the measure was expressed in House debate by Representative Byrns, Democrat, Tennessee, who opposed it because of the Cove Creek Dam provision, which he declared is a "gross invasion of the rights of Tennessee."

Will Appeal to Courts.

"If President Coolidge doesn't veto the bill," Byrns said, "Tennessee will take it to the courts."

Other Tennessee members fought the report because of the Cove Creek Dam provision.

Four Democratic Senators were persuaded to abandon their filibuster against the conference report at 11:40 a. m., today after they had held the Senate in continuous session for more than 24 hours.

The Senators were McKellar of Tennessee, Tydings of Maryland, King of Utah and Blease of South Carolina.

As soon as the Filibuster ended, the Senate adopted the report.

Told of Impending Veto.

McKellar and his three friends were informed privately that President Coolidge would veto the bill even if it were passed, and thereupon little excuse remained for them to carry on their sensational and weary parliamentary game.

McKellar's information was understood to have developed from the action of Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader, who went to the White House early this forenoon with sleepy eyes to appeal to Mr. Coolidge to say he should veto the measure.

The United Press learned Mr. Coolidge declined to commit himself definitely, saying the bill was the business of the Senate at this time, not his. He said, however, he would consider it upon its merits when and if it came to him for signature, and Curtis let opponents of the bill feel confident the President would veto the measure. All Senate Republican leaders believe he will.

Authorizes Dam Construction.

The Norris report, as adopted, 43 to 34, provided that the Cove Creek Dam should be constructed and that only so much fertilizer be manufactured at Muscle Shoals as is necessary for experimental purposes.

Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee circulated a cloture petition shortly after 10 a. m., seeking to limit debate upon the tax bill conference report, which was to come up for action as soon as the Muscle Shoals bill was disposed of. Senator Johnson, co-author of the Boulder Dam bill, signed the petition, thinking it was for cloture on the Muscle Shoals report, as many other Senators did. Later he scratched his name from the list.

Sleeping Senators Aroused.

Sergeant-at-arms David Barry was sent out at down today to roust sleeping Senators to attend the all night filibuster.

Barry first tried to telephone and then sent his assistants out in taxicabs in an effort to get a quorum for the filibuster, which began early yesterday.

The filibuster was started by Senator McKellar, but grew out of his hands into an effort to kill the entire Muscle Shoals bill.

Throughout the night senators, past middle age, sought sleep on couches outside the chamber doors while senators opposed to the conference report continued the fight against time, speaking on every subject on which their sleepy minds could concentrate.

Argues on Fort Sumpter.

Senator Blease discussed the Civil War for two hours and twenty-seven minutes. He concluded at 4:05 a. m. His argument was that Fort Sumpter still stands today unconquered. The arguments that have been used by adherents of the Cove Creek project were similar, he said, to the arguments used by the North against the South before the war.

Blease began his comprehensive speech after Senator Tydings had spoken for three hours and five minutes. Tydings set a new style for Senate filibusterers by wearing a Tuxedo. He strolled from his seat and pounded desk after desk as he set forth his objections to the conference report.

Starting at 10:20 p. m., Tydings made known to the opposition that he was "long of voice and earnest of purpose."

Sustained by Milk.

Tydings managed to get through three hours without assistance. In the middle of his speech he was furnished with a glass of milk. The galleries were full when he started, but as he launched into his oration upon the constitution, the bill of rights and the Boston Tea Party, his audience dwindled away. Senator Heflin of Alabama lay sleeping with a blanket over him in the rear of the Chamber. Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, author of the Eighteenth amendment, tried to sleep beside him, but indicated Heflin's snores disturbed him.

Many other senators past 60 slept in the lobby, cloak room or nearby committee rooms on divans, under army blankets furnished them by sergeant-at-arms.

The schedule had been arranged early yesterday for an all-night session on the Johnson-Swing Boulder Dam bill. Senator Johnson of California, co-author of the Colorado River Power and Flood-Coontrol measure, permitted Senator Norris of Nebraska to interject his Muscle Shoals bill in place of Johnson's unfinished business. Johnson sat during the early hours of the fillibuster chewing a cigar and awaiting his opportunity to force his bill before the Senate. It never came.

FLIERS FIND SLAIN DOCTOR

BELIEF HELD HE WAS KILLED BY BANK ROBBERS.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR

Dr. Wineinger, Dighton, Kan., Left Home Wednesday to Treat Man Injured in Accident.

Lamar, Colo., May 25.—The body of Dr. W. W. Wineinger, Dighton, Kan., physician who was believed to have been kidnapped by five bandits who robbed the First National Bank here Wednesday, was found twenty-five miles from Oakley, Kan., Sheriff L. E. Alderman reported to his office here at noon today.

Airplanes circling over that territory in search of the bandit car, spotted Wineinger's car.

Sheriff Alderman said the physician was in his own automobile and had been shot to death.

Dr. Wineinger left his home in Dighton at 10:30 p. m., Wednesday ostensibly to treat a man who had been injured in an accident.

He never returned. Report of the finding of the body, according to the sheriff, had spurred the bandit search in the Smoky Hills section where a posse of 100 men are believed to be closing in on the robbers.

Fire-Eating Jim Reed's Only Boss
Or a Close-up of Mrs. Reed

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of articles on prospective "First Ladies" by Allene Sumner, staff writer for (Democrat-Forum and NEA Service. In this article, Miss Sumner discusses Mrs. James A. Reed, wife of the Democratic senator who is a candidate for president.

By ALLENE SUMNER
NEA Service Writer

Washington, May 25.—Mrs. "Jim" Reed is as much of a dramatic personality as her fire-eating husband, which is saying a lot.

Mrs. Reed can make "Jim" come home to dinner on time. Mrs. Reed can make "Jim" stop talking when nobody else can. Mrs. Reed reels in her own copper wire with a 12-pound trout quivering on the end, and won't let "Jim" help a speck. As someone put it, "Mrs. Reed is the one person able to be 'Jim' Reed's wife and not be flattened out by the job."

If the Reeds should sign a four-year lease for the big white house on Pennsylvania ave. the beginning of March 4, 1929, "Tom" would come, too, and show the "best minds" what a real southern breakfast or lunch of hot corn bread, southern friend chicken and baked ham and waffles can be.

"Tom" has been the Reed's major domo for so many years they've all lost count. There is no servant problem in the Reed menage, for "Tom" "spects I'se here for life."

Mrs. Reed fosters Tom's talents in crocheting and painting which tells the story of a woman as interested in the pleasure and ambitions of those about her as in her own.

Married 40 Years.

Mention Mrs. "Jim" Reed in Washington and any listener will say:

"Did you ever see such hair?" The hair in question is as golden as honey, though Mrs. Reed boasts of her 40 years' marriage to the senator.

It was the golden hair and pansy blue eyes of Lura Mansfield that started the Reed courtship back in Cedar Rapids, Ia., in 1885 when "Jim" Reed was just a successful attorney and even his best friends didn't dream that he'd be tooted for the White House some years later.

"Brilliant, beautiful, companionable and dressy" are the most frequent adjectives of description thrust upon Mrs. Jim Reed. She loves bright colors in both her house and clothes. Just now Mrs. Reed is brightening up the new homey house bought in Kansas City with cherry chintzes and drapes.

They say in Washington that the Reeds are the most perfectly companionable couple in official life.

"Jim" Reed is a movie fan. Nobody knows whether Mrs. "Jim" really is or not, but she stands in line in the movie queue with "Jim" at the opening of most every new film and even, they say, doesn't scold if "Jim" comes home late for dinner and explains he just dropped into a movie house on the way home from the Senate.

Senator "Jim" has his library and "work shop" in the basement of the new Kansas City brick home on Cherry street. Here "Jim" putters around and Mrs. Jim lets him putter, going off to a bridge club or some party of her own which she knows would bore the senator to outbreak.

Mrs. Reed loves pretty clothes. She is said to be one of official Washington's best-dressed women. She doesn't buy just dresses and coats and hats and shoes; she buys complete costumes; a green hat means a green or beige dress, bag, shoes, coat, etc. The senator sometimes upbraids her for what he smilingly calls "Lura's extravagance," but they say there isn't a senator in Washington prouder of his wife.

Mrs. Jim Reed is very popular in Washington. They say she makes any party a success. But she is not at all impressed by the official social whirl and indulges in only those official social occasions which are almost obligatory.

MRS. JAMES A. REED

A Charming Hostess.

When she gives a luncheon or dinner for officialdom, however, it is perfectly done, they say—caterers, orchestra, flowers, the right people next each other, the right anecdotes, a famous "Jim Reed party."

Mrs. Reed used to say "all of Jim's friends are my friends." They say that nowadays she is cultivating friends of her own, perhaps believing that "my friends are Jim's friends." She is not at all unmindful of the truth that any public man's wife can make or break him. Her intimates say that while's she delightfully natural she does most everything with thought of what it will mean to "Jim."

The senator is a different man when he talks about his wife. He has said he'd rather go fishing with Lura Reed than any man he knows.

"The fish always bite better," the senator explains, "because she knows enough to keep quiet at the right time."

TOMORROW: Mrs. Frank O. Lowden.

SOCIETY

Local Club Has Its Last Session of the Season

"Club loyalty" was stressed by Mrs. W. F. Chaves, president of the Twentieth Century Club, in her talk to members at the club luncheon held at the First Methodist Church yesterday when more than 80 women were present.

"The Twentieth Century Club is growing bigger and better, but remember that every member on the rolls stands as a stimulus or deterrent," the president declared.

In speaking of the value of club work Mrs. Chaves pointed out that "perhaps you are a better friend to someone you didn't know, perhaps you are a bit more tolerant, more broadminded and perhaps you have grown above petty occurences since you have been doing club work."

Honor guests at the luncheon today, the last club meeting of the summer, were: Mrs. G. B. Holmes, St. Joseph, a charter member of the club, and Mrs. C. C. Hellmers of Lincoln, Neb., president of the club in 1920 and 1921.

Honor Guests Talk.

Both of the honor guests gave talks.

Mrs. G. B. Holmes, a charter member of the club, "reminisced" telling of the club when it was organized and of the study and activities during the first few years of its existence.

Mrs. Hellmers talked on club work and club life and expressed her appreciation at being asked to attend.

One feature of the meeting was the presentation of a gift to Mrs. Chaves by the club. Mrs. C. R. Gaugh made the presentation speech and told of the splendid work which Mrs. Chaves has done during the first year of her regime as president.

Plans for next year's activities were discussed and new "pep and vigor" has entered into the club. The plan of dissolving the music and literature group into a music group apparently was the best step for the organization.

Tell of Work.

Mrs. Emmett Scott, head of the new department, and Mrs. D. J. Thomas, committee worker, told of the activities planned for the group. The music department will plan to become federated with the State music club federation. A four-year course will be started by the group next year. Mrs. Thomas pointed out that since Mrs. Carrie Margaret Caldwell has been elected district chairman of the music federation she felt required to sponsor a music club in Maryville. The department can take the place of such an organization, Mrs. Thomas said.

Mrs. W. W. Stanfield, chairman of the Arts and Crafts department, welcomed new members into her department and asked Mrs. Leonard Bosch, chairman of the Arts and Crafts program, to tell of the work planned. Mrs. Bosch stated that the department would have demonstrations of various phases of homemaking such as correct table setting, during the year. She told of other work that the group plans.

Miss Davison Talks.

Miss Margaret Davison, head of the Civics group, said that her group would study city ordinances, sanitation, nuisances and would cooperate with city officials to help Maryville. One meeting in this department will be given over to fire prevention.

Mrs. Harry Todd, chairman of the Tourist department, suggested that the entire club hold a meeting with the Chamber of Commerce. "My husband suggested it, think it over," Mrs. Todd said. "New China," will be the department's subject for study next year. Several book reviews will be given.

During the luncheon the following musical program was given:

"Sognai," by Schira and "Connais tu le Pays, Mignon, Thomas, by Miss Katherine Gray, soprano. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Wayland Richards.

Mrs. Richards played a piano solo, Chopin's "Valse in E Minor."

Miss Ruth Lawrence sang, "Calm as the Night," by Bohm and "Since We Parted," by Allisten. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Gertrude Wray.

Mrs. E. G. Orear, first president of the club, and a charter member was asked to attend but the critical illness of her nephew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Channing Allen, Kansas City, prevented her attendance.

Have Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis had as their dinner guests, Miss Edith Woodburn, Kansas City, sister of Mrs. Davis and also Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Woodburn, Vince Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Milo Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Woodburn, south of Maryville, had as their Tuesday evening guests: Mrs. Warren Antrim and children, of Maryville. Mrs. Antrim is a sister of Mrs. Woodburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morris and family of Barnard called on Mr. and Mrs. Warren Antrim in Maryville Sunday night.

Misses Golda, Mildred and Martha Birkenholz called on Mrs. Warren Antrim here, Wednesday. Miss Neva Antrim accompanied them home for a few days' visit.

Gives Dinner.

Miss Audrey Linthicum entertained at a 1 o'clock dinner Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Linthicum on Bonnie View Farm. The following were guests: The Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Hicks, Helen Busby, Beulah Mutz, Chloe Riggle, Marvin Lyle, Kermit Moore, William Elliott and George Epperson.

The group motored to Pickering afterward and organized the northeast district for the Young Peoples Council. The evening was spent in music and games.

For Margaret Leuck.

Miss Margaret Leuck, who is leaving soon to enter Nurses Training at St. Joseph Hospital, St. Joseph, Mo., was entertained with a surprise handkerchief shower Thursday afternoon by Louise Shriver. The afternoon was spent with various entertainments, after which refreshments were served.

Those present were: Misses Margaret Leuck, Mary Rose Leuck, Guadalupe Doffing, Melania Doffing, Thelma Reimer, Mary Mildred Merrigan, Beatrice Ray, Regina Kill and the hostess.

King's Heralds.

Seventy King's Heralds attended a picnic at College Park from 3 to 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The members from the First Methodist church here entertained 19 members from the organization at Hopkins. The Hopkins group were accompanied by Mrs. H. S. Maxwell at Hopkins.

Mrs. James Carpenter is the sponsor of the group here. She was assisted yesterday by Mrs. Ernest Welborn.

Stunts were given. The children were divided into groups according to the months in which their birthdays came.

The stunt given by July won. It was a play, "Entertaining Sister's Beau." Virginia Mutz was the leader. The groups were given fifteen minutes to think up their stunts.

Other stunts which were considered particularly good were: the dramatization of the "Three Bears." This group was headed by Mary Edna Lauber.

The September group put on a circus.

In one month only four girls had birthdays. These girls put on a bird conversation. The girls were Alice Lauber, Mildred Knapp, Eleanor Hartness and Marjorie Curnutt.

The judges were Mrs. Fred Waggoner and Mrs. Bruce.

The Hopkins group invited the Maryville members to Hopkins for a picnic next year.

Edna Bell Welborn and Helen Kerr gave reading at the picnic.

Only seven boys attended the affair. Two were from Hopkins and five from Maryville. The boys' stunt was a band. Kenneth Tebow was the leader.

Mrs. Otis Lyle, Hostess.

The C. C. Club of Swallow district met at the home of Mrs. Otis Lyle yesterday afternoon when roll call was answered with housecleaning helps.

The afternoon was spent socially. The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughter, Mary Louise Lyle, and Mary Jane McGinniss.

Members present were: Mrs. Charles Shamberger, Mrs. J. D. Mutz and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, Mrs. James McGinniss and daughter, Alice Louise, Mrs. James Linthicum, Mrs. Sherman Heflin, Mrs. Alva Heflin and children, Jean and Jimmy, Mrs. Edward Busby, Miss Chloe Riggle.

Why diamonds of same size vary greatly in price

A diamond's value is determined by its color and brilliancy, not its size. This and That

The Rev. E. K. Christie, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, Skidmore, claims he is a marksman of no mean order. He declares that once he let go with a 22 and when he counted up he found eight dead rabbits as a trophy of that one measly shoot. And worse than all he declares "and it is so." We had no idea of questioning his statement until he said he was a little uncertain about that count himself. But he sticks to it just the same.

John McMahan, new hardware man, Skidmore, is getting "store broke" and gradually getting the catch on to things merchantile. A lady customer asked for "sickles" and John got it "pickles", and affirmed that that article was sold in another kind of a store. The lady in question made him believe she knew something about hardware stock, and John is apologizing yet.

1928 TOWERS DISTRIBUTED

COLLEGE ANNUAL TO STUDENTS YESTERDAY.

DEDICATION UNUSUAL

Volume Is Tendered to Other Institutions of Learning in Missouri — A Good Book.

The 1928 "Tower," State Teachers College year book, appeared on the campus yesterday afternoon. This is the eighth edition. It's a good book.

The volume covers athletics, forensics, special activities, and above all includes the pictures of the College and College high school students, the College faculty, and special pictures of various College organizations. It is dedicated to other teachers' colleges and to the University of Missouri.

Introductory pages, including foreword, the College song, "Alma Mater," the dedication, College oath, and a message written by President Uel W. Lamkin, follow the general arrangement of former editions.

Board of Regents.

A page is devoted to the seven members of the board of regents under the department marked, "Administration." Following this is a full page likeness of President Lamkin and his message on the page facing.

A plain and simple "In Memoriam" is given to Mrs. A. R. Perrin, former assistant dean of women, and C. A. Hawkins, both of whom died during the school year.

The pictures of the faculty appear on the following pages, arranged four to the page.

To the seniors are given panels with eight pictures to the page. Under each name appears a phrase or sentence characterizing the individual. For the juniors much the same plan is followed, while the sophomores and freshmen are given smaller cuts.

Following the class pictures are panels of members of organizations, first of which is the Tower Staff, followed by the student council, the Social Science club, Pi Gamma Mu, Mathematics and Science club, Art club, Kappa Omicron Phi, the library force, Pi Omega Pi, Northwest Missourian staff, Residence Hall board, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Newman club, Women's Athletic Association, "M" Club, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Sigma Tau Gamma and the Writer's club.

A section is devoted to the activities of the school year, including the debate squad, glee club, play casts, 1927 May Fete, activities of the music department, and a resume of the year's athletics, with pictures of the coaches, H. Frank Lawrence and E. A. Davis, the cheer leaders, Green and White Peppers, and pictures of various team members, both boys and girls.

Feature Section.

The final and most attractive department of the annual is the feature section, which is opened with the pictures of the four class queens, Miss Mary Fields, Miss Susie Hankins, Miss Virginia Nicholas and Miss Juanita Marsh, in full page cuts, in colors.

Snap shots of campus scenes, outings, and side lights, giving an inside glimpse of student life about the college, and other activities in everyday college "sets" help to enliven the book greatly.

The book has a neat appearance and suggests careful work of the staff, composed of Homer Richmond, Lola Tillitt, Chilton K. Ross, Gladys Somerville, Leon Ungles, Lucille Qualls, Virginia Dean, Roy Dickman, Evelyn Evans, Gordon Lee Trotter and Katherine Mills.

Homer Richmond was editor-in-chief of the publication this year.

The book is bound in green leather, ornamented with a front cover panel and a gold inscription, "Tower 1928."

Arrest G. G. Gorman on Charge of Fraud

Former Maryville Man Is Released When He Pays Back Money Collected in Advertising Scheme.

Charges of fraud, brought against G. G. Gorman of Stanberry, formerly of Maryville, were dismissed last week in Gentry county according to the Albany Capital. The Albany paper said regarding the charge:

"A company owns the menu cards at restaurants in several towns and each year they go around to the merchants and sell advertising for these cards and furnish them to the restaurants free of charge. They own the covers into which they go and merely substitute the up-to-date cards for the old ones, when they are printed. Mr. Gorman appropriated one of these cards and covers at some restaurant and conceived the idea of taking the company man's place on the sale of advertising, but did something that the company man never did, and that was collect in advance.

"He came to Albany and at each store put out a good 'line' about the other salesman robbing them every year and agreed to furnish the advertising much cheaper. He made a price and if this was too large he arranged the price to suit the customer. He went to Stanberry and employed the same tactics. Mr. Swisher, regular representative of the company, who has been calling on the merchants on this same proposition for years happened into Albany Wednesday, and when he learned of what was going on he and the advertising buyers got a warrant and Sheriff Brown went with them to Stanberry and the man was arrested.

"Mr. Gorman declared his good intentions of delivering them a menu card, stating that he had no intention of defrauding them, but of course he couldn't deliver the card which he had used as a sample. The men finally agreed not to prosecute, when he agreed to get the money and go around with the sheriff and representative of the company and pay back all he had collected and explain the situation to them. He did this and was released when he paid all the costs of the case."

What Nodaway County Churches Are Doing

IF THE BIBLE SHOULD BE TRUE

Comment on the Uniform International Series for May 27, 1928. Read Mark 12.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

When Hernando Cortez came to the New World in search of high adventure his friend Governor Valesquez offered him a large grant of land and many slaves, an opportunity to build up a profitable plantation and a fortune. Cortez scornfully refused the offer and said, according to Prescott's history, "But I came to get gold, not to till the soil like a peasant."

When the sturdy Anglo Saxons on the Mayflower reached the rocky shores of New England and landed, they knelt down and thanked God for their safety and for the new land which should give them an opportunity for religious liberty.

Cortez was a hundred years ahead of the Pilgrims. He landed on a pleasant shore and possessed a land which promised wealth and which yielded everything. The New Englanders landed on bleak shores and in a hard climate. A writer explains the reason why today we have the United States of America, the richest, most prosperous, most favored nation on earth and the country of Cortez is still undeveloped, a country of poverty and ignorance, a country of revolutions and death, with these words "The Spaniard came to find gold; the Anglo Saxon to find God."

In the Bible exactly these results are promised over and over. Away back in Isaiah's time he used the illustration in a parable. He told about a man who made a large investment in a vineyard, installed the most modern wine press, built in solid stone convenient receptacles, set out the best grape stock. And then the vineyard yielded sour grapes. The man pocketed his loss and grubbed up the vineyard and wiped out the improvement. Isaiah was taking to the Hebrew nation which was going down hill, which had degenerated into a luxury loving, grafting, vice supporting nation; which had taken and debauched the gifts. His parable laid before them a picture of what was going to happen and it did happen.

Many years later in Jerusalem, just a little while before the crucifixion, Jesus used almost exactly the same parable. I have no doubt he was perfectly familiar with the parable used by Isaiah. The Pharisees were not so slow. They understood what Jesus meant and went right ahead with their plans to do away with him. The same thing happened which followed down the years after Isaiah. The Hebrews were scattered, the home geniousness of the people as a race destroyed and the parable Jesus used worked out inevitably.

Suppose it should happen that the Bible is true. Suppose it should turn out that the promises of God are really true. Suppose it should happen that there is a God and that he rules the world and that Jesus in this parable laid down a rule which always works and inevitably brings the same results. This is the Bible rule to us today and to every people. If you refuse to use the things God gives you, if you abuse the life and debauch the wealth which God gives you shall be destroyed. I say, suppose these things should be true after all—and this rule is working today as inevitably as it was when Isaiah laid it down and when Jesus repeated it, just where are we in the United States going to land?

The rule worked in the case of Cortez. With a hundred years start and a much more favored land Mexico is still groveling in ignorance and tyranny. The United States is at the high peak of citizenship and wealth and prosperity.

If the rule is still working what is coming to us if we take the Cortez end of the argument now?

I have no doubt in the world that the rule is working in Chicago. The underworld, vice, graft and violations of law, corrupted the sources of law. I have no doubt whatever that courts and court officials and men in high places were in working agreement with the crooks and that Chicago was ruled by this coalition. The result is blossoming today when the homes of officials are bombed, when lives are taken and when the orderly course of government has been set aside. The vineyard has produced sour grapes.

But let us leave Chicago and go to other cities. Men who ought to know tell me that other cities are today being ruled by a combination of underworld and officialdom. If this is true that which has come to Chicago will come to those cities also.

How about our nation? Recent developments in Washington show very plainly that an administration not very long ago was ruled by crooks and thieves. Astonishing things are being proven. Our great national integrity is being smeared with oil. A few courageous men are steadily pulling aside the lid and the filthy fumes are rising. We are beginning on a campaign. How about the nation?

There are just two sides to the question, righteousness and unrighteousness. The men who are willing to stand for law violation because they do not like a certain law are responsible for the situation, the awful situation in Chicago and other cities where laws are held for naught. They are responsible for the graft in office and for the retaining of men in office who are in league with the law violators. They are customers of bootlegers and are lending themselves to the rule of the underworld.

If the Bible should happen to be true and the law laid down by Jesus and applied so forcibly by Jesus is still working, the next turn of the dial may show Mexico the favored nation and the United States torn asunder and wallowing in the destruction which met the vineyard which produced sour grapes.

I am not stampeded because certain sections and certain men in high places are producing sour grapes. I believe the law of God is operative today and that unless the United States does the right thing in the use of the wealth, prosperity, the power which God has given us as a nation, wealth, prosperity and power never approached at any time by any nation, it will follow the inevitable law.

Of course, if there is no God, if we did not receive these lands from a ruler of life and all things, if the Bible is not true, there is no law and if there is no God and no laws, it makes very little difference what happens.

It seems to me that we might very well pause a few moments and make up our minds about this thing. Is there a God or is the Bible a fable?

Mrs. O. D. Clayton of Guilford was in Maryville yesterday on business.

THE WICKED HUSBANDMEN.

Lesson Text.—Mark 12:1-12; 13:1-37

Read Mark 12:1-12.

1. And he began to speak unto them in parables. A man planted a vineyard and set a hedge about it, and digged a pit for the winepress, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into another country.
2. And at the season he sent to the husbandmen a servant, that he might receive from the husbandmen of the fruits of the vineyard.
3. And they took him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.
4. And again he sent unto them another servant; and him they wounded in the head, and handled shamefully.
5. And he sent another; and him they killed; and many others; beating some, and killing some.
6. He had yet one, a beloved son; he sent him last unto them, saying, They will reverence my son.
7. But those husbandmen said among themselves, This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.
8. And they took him, and killed him, and cast him forth out of the vineyard.
9. What therefore will the lord of the vineyard do? he will come and destroy the husbandmen, and will give the vineyard unto others.
10. Have ye not read even this scripture: The stone which the builders rejected, the same was made the head of the corner.
11. This was from the Lord, and it is marvellous in our eyes.
12. And they sought to lay hold on him; and they feared the multitude; for they perceived that he spake the parable against them; and they left him, and went away.

United Presbyterians May Join Christians

Proposal Made Official at General Assembly in St. Louis.— Committee Suggested.

St. Louis, Mo., May 25.—The general assembly of the United Presbyterian church of America, in session here, had under consideration today a proposal to unite with the Christian or Disciples of Christ Church.

The Rev. George A. Campbell, pastor of the Union Avenue Christian Church here, made the proposal to the assembly officially on behalf of Disciples of Christ Church, of which he is chairman of the fraternal relations committee.

As a preliminary step, Dr. Campbell suggested appointment of a committee by the assembly to study the proposal for a year and then meet with a similar committee from the Disciples of Christ. His suggestion was expected to result in one of the assembly's most significant acts.

The Rev. William A. Spaulding, newly elected moderator of the church, of Albany, Ore., said in an address yesterday the assembly and the church itself would take no active part in politics, but added that its members unquestionably would be guided at the polls by a candidate's moral fitness.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON : : : : : By Harlowe R. Hoyt and Walter Scott

PARABLE OF WICKED HUSBANDMEN

A man planted a vineyard, and set a hedge about it, and digged a pit for the wine press, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into another country.
At the season, he sent a servant to collect what was his due. The husbandmen took him, and beat him, and sent him away. Another one they wounded; and another one they killed; and so they continued to beat and kill.
The man had one son. "They will reverence my son," said the man; and he sent the youth to the husbandmen. "This is the heir," said they. "Let us kill him and his inheritance shall be ours." And they took him and killed him and cast him forth.
What, therefore, will the lord of the vineyard do? He will destroy the husbandmen and give the vineyard to others.

GIRL ALONE

COPYRIGHT 1928 BY NEA SERVICE — By ANNE AUSTIN, AUTHOR OF "SAINT AND SINNER"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SALLY FORD, ward of the state or phanage from the time she is four, i "farmed out" to CLEM CARSON whe she is 16. She meets DAVID NASH athlete and student who is working o the farm for the summer. Carso makes remarks about David's friend ship with Sally and the student strike him a terrific blow.

Sally and David flee and join a car nival. David as cook's helper and Sall in a sideshow disguised as "Princes Lalla," crystal gazer. NITA, Hula dan cer, who knows the police are after th newcomers and who is infatuated wit David, threatens to expose Sally if sh doesn't keep "hands off" the youn student.

The carnival goes next to Capita City, where Sally spent so many year in the orphanage. She successfull eludes detection under the disguise of the crystal gazer until one afternoo when the orphans troop in with thei hostess, a beautiful woman who fascin ates Sally. One of the children recog nizes Sally and shouts her name, bu GUS, the barker, comes to her rescu and diverts attention. Sally is sur prised to see the beautiful "Lady Boun tiful" stop and talk with a well-dress ed, handsome Easterner who earlier i the afternoon has teasingly read Sally' fortune in the crystal and asked he to go to supper with him.

That night a terrible storm blows up and when the tent falls Sally finds herself supported in the arms of a man who had spoken to her earlier in the day. He tells her he knows her rea identity. When they are rescued from under the tent, Sally learns the carnival safe has been robbed and that David and Nita are missing. She pleads with Bybee, carnival owner, not to send the police after David until he has had a chance to return. At last he agrees Sally goes out in the night to find him. At daybreak she sees him coming toward her, a wound in his shoulder. Back on the train he tells of following Nita and STEVE as they fled with the money.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII.

"Then I reckon I'd better not tell you that I did save the money," David grinned at her. "I surely hate to see you faint, Ma'am. It isn't so pleasant."

"Dave, you answer me this minute!" the old lady commanded, shaking a skinny finger in his face. 'Do you know the outfit'll be stranded if those two crooks did get away with the money? Every cent we had in the world was in that safe! You oughta be ashamed of yourself, teasing an old woman!"

"I did save the money, if that's what they had in the suitcases, Mrs. Bybee," David answered more seriously.

"Then where is it? What have you done with it? Left it lying in the road?" the showman's wife screeched, her eyes wild in her gray, wrinkled face.

"Now, now, Mother," Bybee soothed her. "If he did, he shan't be blamed. How could you expect him to walk six or seven miles with two heavy suitcases and his shoulder shot through?"

Sally lifted her face from David's caressing hand and glared at Mrs. Bybee. "Of course he didn't leave it lying in the road! After risking his life to save it for you? David is the cleverest and bravest man in the world! Don't you know that yet?"

Her eyes dropped then to David's face, softened and glowed with such a divine light of love that the boy's head jerked impulsively upward from the pillow. "Where did you hide it, David darling?"

"Dear little Sally!" he murmured as he fell back, overcome with dizziness. "She guessed it, sir," he said drowsily, turning his head with an effort to face Bybee. "I knew I couldn't carry it far, so I hid it. The Steve chap was knocked out cold—I suppose they'll have another charge of 'assault with intent to kill' against me now—so I knew he couldn't see what I was doing.

"I took the two suitcases across the road, holding them in one hand, because by that time my shoulder was bleeding so I was afraid to strain it. There's a farm right at the bend of the road. I struck a match and read the name on the mail box nailed to a post on the road. The name's Randall—C. J. Randall, R. F. D. 2. You oughtn't to have any trouble finding the place.

"There wasn't any moon, but the stars were so bright after the storm that I could just make out a barn about a hundred yards from the road. I cut across the cornfield and managed to reach the barn. There wasn't a sound, not even a dog barking, lucky for me, for if I'd been caught with the suitcases I'd have had a fine time explaining how I happened to get them and what I was doing with them. But I had to take that chance."

"Even if the police had caught you with them, I'd never have believed that you robbed Pop Bybee," Sally assured him, tears slurring her voice, but her eyes shining with pride.

"If you'd seen me robbing the safe, you wouldn't have believed it," David said softly, his free arm drawing her down to the berth so that he could kiss her.

There was a rustle of whispering, a giggle or two from the audience crammed into the corridor outside the door. But David and Sally did not mind. The kiss was none the shorter or sweeter because it was witnessed by the carnival family.

"Well, sir," David went on after that unashamed kiss, which had left Sally trembling and radiant, "I got the suitcases into the barn and up a ladder to the hayloft. You'll find them buried under the hay, unless the Randall horses have made a meal off them by this time."

"Glory be to the Lord!" Mrs. Bybee screamed, pounding her husband on the back. "The show'll go on, Winfield! And what you are standing there for? Hustle right out after them suitcases or I'll go myself! You've got to go yourself, or the farmer Randall will take a pot shot at anybody that goes meddling around his barn."

"All right, Mother, all right!" Bybee protested. "I'll handle it. Don't worry. But I want to thank Dave here for what he's done for the outfit, Dave—" he began, lifting his voice as if he intended to make an oration.

"Oh, that's all right, Mr. Bybee," David blushed vividly. "We'll just call it square. You didn't turn me over to the police last night, and you've taken Sally and me in and given us work and protected us—"

"I'm going to do more than that, by golly!" Bybee shouted. "I'm going to the district attorney of this burg and tell him the whole yarn! I'll get them charges against you and Sally quashed in less time than it takes to say it! You're a hero, boy, and by golly, I feel like charging admission for the rubes to look at you. The biggest and bravest hero in captivity! Yes, sir! How's that for a spiel, Gus?" he shouted to the barker.

"Dave don't seem to think it's so grand" Gus chuckled. "Look at him! A body'd think he'd been socked in the eye instead of slapped on the back!"

It was true. David was looking so white and sick and his eyes were so filled with embarrassment and distress that Sally was in tears again.

"What's the matter, Dave?" Bybee asked in bewilderment. "I thought you and the kid would be tickled to death to get a clean bill of health from the cops. What's wrong?"

David struggled upon the elbow of his right arm, his white face twitching with a spasm of pain. "I'd be glad to be free of those charges, Mr. Bybee, but I guess we'd better let them stand for a while. I might get off all right, but—it's Sally. You see, sir, she's not of age, and the state would make her go back into the orphanage. The law in this state makes her answerable to the orphanage till she's 18, and it would kill her to go back. I couldn't bear it, either, Mr. Bybee. Sally and I belong together, and we're going to be married when this trouble blows over." Although he was blushing furiously, his voice was strong and clear, his eyes unwavering as they met the bright, frowning blue eyes of Pop Bybee.

"But man alive," Pop protested, and it was noticeable to both Sally and David that he did not call him "boy" after David's declaration of his intentions toward Sally. "We can't simply hush this whole thing up! You did follow the crooks and take the money away from them! I've got to notify the police that the swag has been recovered."

"Can't you tell them it was all a mistake and call them off the case?" David pleaded earnestly.

"And let that Hula-hussy get off Scot-free?" Bybee hooted. "No, siree! She ain't a member of this family no more, and she'll have to pay for double-crossing me! I was good to that girl! Staked her to cakes and clothes when she joined up, whining she didn't have a cent to her name! Stringing me all along! Just joined up to learn the lay of the land!

"Besides, we've already put the case in the hands of the police and they've seen the safe for themselves. The sergeant said it was a professional job, all right, as neat a safe-cracking trick as he'd ever seen turned. I couldn't hush it up if I wanted to.

"I'll do what I can for Sally, lie like a gentleman for her, say she never joined up with us, we don't know where she is—anything you like, but I'm afraid you're bound to be the hero of Capital City before you're 24 hours older. Too bad, son, but I don't see how it can be helped," he twinkled.

"I don't care a rap about being a hero," David snapped. "The only thing in God's world I care about is Sally Ford. Listen, Mr. Bybee, tell the police that one of the other boys chased the crooks and took the money away from them. Let Eddie Cobb be the hero! Eddie'd like that, wouldn't you, Eddie?" he sang out to the freckled-faced youngster who was looking on, goggle-eyed, among the crowd that jammed the door of the stateroom.

"Awe, Dave!" Eddie protested, flushing brightly under his freckles.

"Sure you would like it!" David laughed feebly, sinking back to his pillows. "Listen, Mr. Bybee: this is Eddie Cobb's home town. He was raised in the orphanage, like Sally. He'd get a great kick out of being a hero to the kids at the Home. He can go with you to get the suitcases, after you've sent for the police to go along with you.

"I'll lie low, Eddie can tell the story I've told you, and the cops will never be the wiser. I can give him a pretty good description of Steve. I had plenty of chances to study his face after I'd knocked him out. I imagine he's beat it in his car by this time, if he was able to drive; otherwise you'll find him in the road just as I told you.

Of course he'd know it wasn't Eddie that fought with him, but the police wouldn't have any reason to doubt Eddie's word."

"But Nita may have told him about you and me!" Sally cried. "Oh, David, don't bother about me! Take your chance while you have it to be cleared of those terrible charges! I—I'll go back to the Home and—and wait for you. I could stand it—somehow—if I knew you were back in college, a—a hero, and working for both of us. Please, David! Think of yourself, not me!"

"No." David shook his head stubbornly. "This little thing I've done wouldn't get you out of trouble. They might clap you into the reformatory, as a juvenile delinquent. We can't take a chance on that! Besides, you've had enough of the orphanage. We stick together, darling, and that's that! May I have another cup of coffee, if it isn't too much trouble?"

"You're both a pair of fools, so crazy in love with each other that you can't see straight!" Mrs. Bybee scolded, as she blew her nose violently. "But I'd like to see Winfield Bybee try to do anything you don't want him to! Far as I'm concerned, you can have anything I've got and welcome to it!"

Of course there was nothing then for Pop Bybee to do but to adopt David's plan. The boy was transferred to a lower berth, where he was safely hidden until after the detectives had arrived and departed with Pop Bybee, Eddie Cobb and Gus, the barker.

Eddie, in his zeal for playing his part well, had torn his shirt, bruised his knuckles, scraped dirt on his arms, rolled in mud, and done everything else to make-up for the part.

For the rest of the day Eddie strutted about in the limelight of publicity. Newspaper photographers and reporters arrived within a few minutes after the detectives had phoned headquarters that the suitcases filled with silver and bills had been found in the hayloft; and when Eddie returned with the showman and the barker, he was prevailed upon to pose bashfully for his pictures.

The newspaper reporters commented admirably on the "boy hero's" admirable modesty and diffidence in the big front-page stories that they wrote about the carnival robbery, and Eddie's freckled face, grinning bashfully from the center of the pages, confirmed every word written about him.

His kewpie doll booth at the carnival that afternoon and evening was mobbed by his admirers, and before the day was ended Eddie almost believed that he had routed two famous criminals and saved a small fortune for the owner of the carnival.

Sally was permitted to stay with David during the afternoon, but Bybee apologetically asked her to go on for the evening performances, since a record-breaking crowd had turned out, drawn partly by the fine weather that followed the storm, but largely by the front page publicity which the robbery had won for the show.

It was just before the 10 o'clock show that Sally, slipping into the throne-like chair before the crystal, heard a familiar, mocking voice.

"It's not fair! You look as fresh as a daisy! And I've been frantic with anxiety all day, expecting to hear that Princess Lalla had sickened with pneumonia. I've come to collect thanks, your highness, for saving your life!"

Up bobs the New Yorker again, the man who saved Sally during the storm.

Kill Three Wolves on J. Arthur Wray Farm

Farmers Around Pickering Complain of Wire Worm.—Replant Little of Corn.

(By O. G. Null).

PICKERING—One day last week George Wray located a wolf den on the J. Arthur Wray farm, near Myrtle Tree, and he and some neighbors succeeded in capturing and killing three young wolves. One young wolf and the old one escaped, though both of them are believed to have been wounded.

After the wolves had been killed A. B. Dowden of that neighborhood made a trip of inspection through his sheep pasture and found the carcasses of eight lambs recently killed by the wolves.

There is some complaint among the farmers of damage to the corn by wire worms and cut worms. A few fields are being planted over presumably because of the ravages of those pests.

The corn is practically all planted and cultivation is underway on many farms.

A light shower fell here Thursday evening about nine o'clock. It was accompanied by small hail but no damage resulted as the hail stones were small and few in number.

W. A. Dairymple had one of his legs broken just above the ankle by being struck by the end of a log which he was pulling out of the old river bed on the W. E. Johnson farm northeast of town on Thursday.

Doctors Crowson and Cummins reduced the fracture and he is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Robert Bosick and two children, and Mrs. Leroy Spiker and baby returned to their homes at Griswold, Ia., on last Sunday after a two-weeks visit here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mann, parents of Mrs. Mann, parents of Mrs. Bosick and Mrs. Spiker.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Swinford and daughter, Jean, spent last Sunday in St. Joseph at the home of H. J. Sadler, a brother of Mrs. Swinford.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Kelley of Sherman, So. Dak., who came here last week to attend the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Kelley, parents of the former, left Sunday for their home. They made the trip by motor car and expected to arrive at their home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiley of Cameron visited Mr. Wiley's mother, Mrs. Eliza Wiley, and other relatives here last Saturday night and Sunday, returning home Sunday afternoon.

Judge Heflin and wife of Cameron are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Porter, north of town this week. They expect to leave for their home on Friday. The Heflin and Porter families were neighbors for several years when the Porter family lived at Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wagner and family arrived here Tuesday evening from Aberdeen, Wash., where they spent the winter. They made the trip of 2500 miles in less than eight days, which indicates that they were anxious to get back to the "old home town."

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. McMillen arrived home Friday evening from Chester, Neb., where they had accompanied the body of Mrs. McMillen's father, A. E. Eldridge, for interment the first part of the week.

Faye Florea, jr., who underwent an operation for mastoid trouble about two weeks ago was brought home last Saturday and is getting along fine.

Miss Ova Swaney went to St. Joseph last Monday where she will spend the summer at the home of her aunt. She was accompanied to St. Joseph by her sister, Mrs. Brice Rickard, who will visit there this week.

Mrs. Agnes Lunte and daughters, Misses Huldah and Ruth Lunte started to Highland, Kan., last Sunday but met with a rain at St. Joseph and returned home from there after the shower was over.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wiley and son, Dean, drove to St. Joseph on Wednesday returning home that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Robb were St. Joseph visitors on Thursday.

Methodists Deadlock Over Third Bishop

Rule Requiring Two-Third Majority Causes Balloting.—Boston Man Ahead.

Kansas City, Mo., May 25.—The Methodist Episcopal conference was in a deadlock today over the election of a third bishop.

The same rule which caused the Democratic national convention in 1924 to be a long, drawn-out affair caused the deadlock in the Methodist conference—the required two-third majority.

In an effort to bring an end to the election a motion to reduce the bishop areas by one and not elect a third bishop was presented. The conference voted the motion down, 474 to 353.

The result of the sixteenth ballot showed Dr. Louis O. Hartman of Boston leading the field with 391 votes. Dr. Ralph Cushman, of Rochester, N. Y., who on the sixteenth ballot had 253 votes, announced his withdrawal from the race.

Further development was the withdrawal of Dr. Lucius H. Bugbee, pastor of the "Millionaire's Church" in Minneapolis. Dr. Bugbee had shown remarkable strength in the voting, having advanced to 229 votes on the fifteenth ballot. He received 157 on the fourteenth.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, May 25.—Heavy selling in corn carried wheat prices down on the board of trade today, although weather reports over the belt were unfavorable. Oats broke with other grains.

At the close wheat was down 1⅞c to 2⅝c; corn was off 2⅛c to 3⅞c; and oats had lost ½c to 2⅝c; provisions were sharply lower.

Wheat was unsettled in spite of unfavorable reports from the Canadian and American Northwest. Temperatures in the American Northwest were somewhat lower. The market was influenced by the break in corn. The cash market, with receipts of 16 cars, was ½c lower.

Corn broke early with heavy selling. Part of the belt received rains overnight and this aided the break. Receipts were exceptionally large at 259 cars, and the cash market was down ½c. Receipts were 81 cars.

Provisions were lower.

COMETS PLAY HERE SUNDAY

HOPKINS TO BE FOE IN HOME-COMING GAME.

HAVE STRONG LINE-UP

Other League Leaders Also Play Away From Home.—Two Memorial Day Games Booked.

Games Sunday.
Hopkins at Maryville.
Quitman at Bolckow.
Clearmont at Guilford.
Barnard at Burlington Junction.

For the third time this season the Maryville Comets will appear on the home diamond. It will be a homecoming game, with Hopkins as rival.

The Maryville club has played four games, winning half of them, and with one of the league leaders here the management is expecting a good crowd to see the new line-up perform.

The league leaders all will be playing away from home for the scheduled Sunday games. Quitman, tied with Hopkins and Clearmont, with three games won and one lost, will play at Bolckow, which is tied with Maryville and Barnard for fourth, fifth and sixth positions in the standings. Clearmont will play at Guilford, a team yet to win a game.

Barnard will be found at Burlington Junction for Sunday's tilt. Guilford, Burlington Junction and Bolckow have changed the personnel of their clubs to some extent and promise a better brand of baseball.

Two Memorial Day games have been announced by the teams of the Nodaway county league. Clearmont will be at Hopkins on May 30 and Maryville will play at Clarinda, Ia.

The best line-up to appear thus far this season for the Comets has been promised by Leo Knox, manager, in the game against Hopkins. Last Sunday the Maryville players for the first time were up on their toes throughout the game and Hopkins, a team which took Maryville to task, regularly last season in the Northwest Missouri league, will be given plenty of opposition.

Bill Laughlin will start on the mound for Maryville. Delmar Carmichael will do the receiving. It will be his first appearance in a Maryville uniform this season. The rest of the line-up was announced as follows:

Brennan, first base; Burks, second base; Augustine, third base; Daniels, short stop; Hise, left field; Arthur, center field; and C. Mayes, right field.

The probable batteries for five of the other clubs in the league:

Hopkins—Thorburn and Henning.
Clearmont—Seckman and Hagey.
Barnard—Williams and Nedro.
Bolckow—Wampler and Davison.
Quitman—Inman and Tobin.

Springfield Club Has Ambidextrous Hurler

Claude Greech, Young Semi-Pro, Hurls Equally Well as a Southpaw or Right Hander.

Springfield, Mo., May 25.—In Claude Greech, young semi-pro hurler, the Springfield Midgets of the Western Association boast one of the very few ambidextrous pitcher in organized baseball.

Greech has demonstrated plenty of ability with either arm and if he continues the good work, the chances are that he will draw quite a few Springfield pay checks this summer.

Greech is one of the few "turn around" hurlers in the baseball world. He has been pitching both ways for six years and is equally effective as a southpaw or right hander. Last year he played in semi pro circles in Northwest Arkansas. He throws a fast ball with his left arm and uses his right for the curves.

Tod Morgan Defends Title Successfully

New York, May 25.—Tod Morgan of Seattle, Wash., who is the dean of ring champions, in that he has held his titled longer than any of the present titleholders, successfully defended his junior-lightweight crowd against Eddie ("Cannonball") Martin, former bantamweight champion, last night in Madison Square Garden.

Martin kept up a persistent attack, but was unable to fathom Morgan's clever defense and the champion won eight of the fifteen rounds.

Martin won only four rounds despite his aggressiveness, with three even.

Death Sentence for Young Negro Upheld

Jefferson City, Mo., May 25.—Division 2 of the supreme court today affirmed the death sentence which was imposed on Cleo Williams, 20-year-old negro, found guilty of attacking two girls in Jackson county last June.

The opinion was written by Commissioner Walter N. Davis and was concurred in by all judges of the division. The court set Williams' death for July 6.

Cannibals Turn to Music.

London, May 25.—Trinity College of Music in London reports that the teaching of music has spread to every civilized corner of the world. The authorities of the school are particularly pleased with the progress made by former cannibal tribes in the South Sea Islands whose talents have been successfully diverted from gastric achievements to the composing and playing of music.

AGREE SALOON IS A MENACE

MIDDLEWESTERN POLICE CHIEFS OPPOST ITS RETURN.

SAYS FAMILIES SUFFER

Some Police Officers Believe There is Saner Way of Selling Liquor Than Over the Bar.

Chicago, May 25.—Years spent enforcing prohibition has changed the ideas of many middlewestern police chiefs on the dry law, but they are well agreed on the saloon question.

The saloon—open, regulated or otherwise—should never return, most of them believe.

The views of Police Chief Jacob Graul of Cleveland, who believed prohibition has been a failure and favors return of a saloon, minus swinging doors and drawn curtains, are not shared by the majority of police officials in the middle west, a survey by the United Press showed.

With the exception of one or two of the larger cities, the chiefs hope that the barroom, whether with swinging doors or without, has vanished permanently from the American scene.

Few appeared to believe, as did the Cleveland chief, that the removal of curtains and doors would have a discouraging effect on the saloon's business or that a barroom "where all the world could see what's going on" would be any more sober than pre-war examples.

Menace to Country.

Chief Fred Reed of Denver was one who strongly opposed the return of the public drinking house. Recalling the time when Denver still had the atmosphere—and the thirst—of the frontier days, he said:

"The old-time saloons, where the men hitched their horses to a rack, then went inside and got tanked, were one of the worst menaces in the country's history. I wouldn't want to see them back again. I don't think they'd help conditions any."

Chief E. J. Murnane of St. Paul, Minn., shared the Denver chief's view. He, however, gave a ray of hope to the followers of John Barleycorn.

"I'm not in favor of bringing back the saloon," he said, "but I believe some way could be found, if the dry law were repealed, to sell liquor in a saner manner than before prohibition. If we must have whisky, sell it in a grocery store, for example. The buyer could take it home and drink it like a man."

The Family Suffered.

Chief Frank Trostle of Madison, Wis., said that prohibition had done nothing in his city to warrant the return of saloons and old fashioned whisky.

"It wasn't the drinker who suffered most when the saloons were running," he said. "It was the five or six children and a mother who fought to keep her family well cared for. I've no sympathy for men who spend most of their money for booze.

Chief Trostle, who has been on the force 16 years and formerly patrolled a beat that had 70 of Madison's 96 saloons, will "fire every man caught drinking in this department," he said.

Bulls Again Active in Stock Market

New York, May 25.—Confidence restored by a reduction of $46,000,000 in brokerage loans, due to the shake-out in prices earlier in the week and late last week, the stock market today resumed bullish demonstrations, under the lead of an old favorite United States steel. Steel common was accumulated in heavy volume, the price rising to $1.48.

Radio staged another of its pro-technical displays, rising from a low of the day from 194¼ to 205½.

Wright and Curtiss Aero also moved widely.

Copper shares were buoyant due to a rise to 15c in the price of export copper.

Studebaker featured the motors in activity and strength. Mail order shares spurted several points, while many special issues including the harvester shares and independent steels, made good advances.

Oils and rails were dull.

DUNLOP'S 40 YEARS

"WHAT OF IT? . . . Even if Dunlop has had the longest experience in tire-building, does that affect my car?

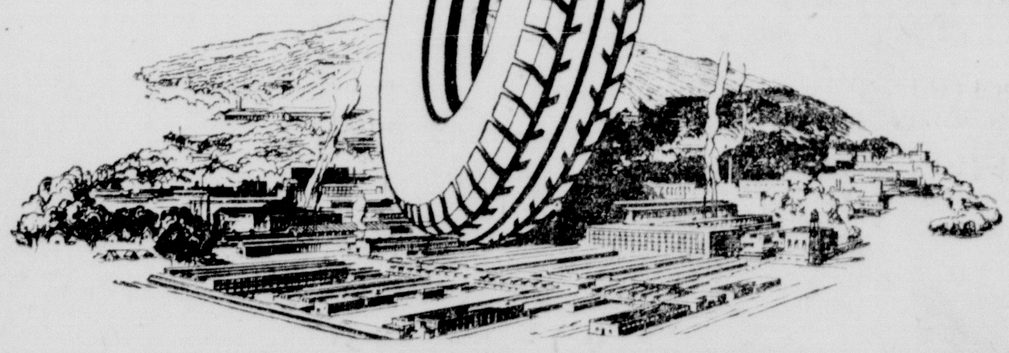
No. Not the mere fact of 40 years' experience. That might mean nothing. But, there is big meaning to you in the success of Dunlop's 40 years.

Such sustained success shows that Dunlop knows how to build maximum value into tires. The 26 million Dunlop tires now running form a world-wide evidence of Dunlop's superiority.



For 40 years . . . . year after year . . . . old friends have been sticking to Dunlop and new friends have been turning to Dunlop. These millions of motorists must be right. They have had experience in using Dunlops. They know.

As soon as you try a set, you, too, will know. You will find that Dunlop's successful experience means extra value to you.

"DUNLOP CITY"

Throughout the world, the productive Dunlop Properties cover so vast an area that—if combined into one place—they would form a "Dunlop City" of over 100,000 acres.

Sherwin-Williams
HOUSE PAINT
Is Most Economical

While "cheap" paint will cover, on the average only 250 square feet per gallon (two coats) SWP House Paint will cover 360 square feet per gallon (two coats). Where 11 gallons of cheap paint are needed for the average house only 7 gallons of fine old SWP are needed. It's that four gallon saving and 100 per cent longer life that makes Sherwin-Williams Paint so economical.
